

Network Inventory & Tracking – 'Because Discovery® Comes First'

Why Centennial Discovery® is a must have tool for your network...

How do you...

Avoid Costly Compliance Fines AND Redundant Licenses

Software compliance is rapidly gaining scrutiny. Indeed, the Business Software Alliance (BSA) dispensed more than $1 million in software compliance fines just in the first quarter of 2004.

Solution: Centennial Discovery makes it easy to ensure compliance

Discovery tracks software usage as well as installs. Asset managers can use Discovery to redeploy unused programs and negotiate license renewals.

Improve IT Department/HelpDesk Operating Efficiency?

IT departments and help desks are increasingly being squeezed to improve their accuracy and operating efficiencies.

Solution: Centennial Discovery helps you do more with less. Faster. Easier.

Knowing what's where is critical to effective network and help desk management. Fast and easy to deploy, manage and report, Discovery provides detailed configuration, version and usage reports for every network asset to help optimize upgrades, asset deployment and help desk stocks.

Mitigate Internal Breaches to Network Security?

Hackers are becoming ever more sophisticated in exploiting application vulnerabilities. Network threats are being created in days and deployed by internal security breaches despite the best perimeter defenses.

Solution: Centennial Discovery enables rapid response to network threats.

Discovery's patented LANProbe™ technology continuously monitors the network and provides alerts to newly installed .exe files. Asset managers can quickly respond to alerts by leveraging Discovery's ability to report on assets by their geographic location's and patch levels.

Protect your C-level executives from SEC fines or jail

Thanks to Sarbanes-Oxley legislation, C-level executives of publicly-held companies now face fines or jail time if their quarterly asset reports are not accurate or supported by documented processes. IT assets are the most fluid and dynamic component of a company's assets.

Solution: Centennial Discovery eliminates this risk

Only Centennial Discovery can provide real time asset tracking of all a company's network hardware and software assets including location and changes.

Centennial Discovery addresses all of these business drivers by quickly and easily providing a baseline of every device attached to your network.
